THE CEREMONIES ON GOOD PRIDAY. Vesterday was especially honored by all Christian sects, which took place at Jerusalem at the third hour past meridian, April 3, A. D. 30, while Tiberius was Emperor of Rome, and Pontius Pilate Governor of Judea. By none, however, is this day observed with more solemnity than by the members of the Anglican Protestant, and in a special manner by the Roman Catholic churches throughout the world. This week, which has been some times denominated the Great or Holy Week, and some times the Painful or Passion Week, is strictly observed by the latter, and all the numerous and imposing coremonies are directed to the end of celebrating the memory of the death and passion of Christ. The three last days of the wock, in consequence of the great mysteries they are intended to represent, are observed in an especial and solvam manner. In the evening of W deneday, Thursday and Friday, the solvam office commonly called the tender, is performed in the Catholic churches. In former times the faithful were wont to assemble at the hour of midnight when the nockarn of Thursday, Friday and Saturday, were sung. The name of tender it clarkness is given to this office from the directionstance that during the recital of the rame all the wenty-one candles, of which six are placed on the alter and officen on a triangular candistated are gradually extinguished. The silence and darkness which then pervise the convulsion of sairth at the death of Christ; and the toolse mide at the conclusion of the service represents the convulsion of nature, when the earth trembled the rocks were rent, the graves opened, and the veil of the temple was torn from the top to the bottom. On thursday, the altars are divided of their rich coverage and oastly ornaments; the ranctusity without a carpet the whole church drossed in black, and the vestments of the officiating clergymen of a mourning bue—everything wearing then an aspect of grief and develation. Fran this day the bells are silent until saturday. The ceremony of washing the feet is also performed in commonous of Christ washing the feet of this disciples, which is observed in Rome with the groutest roichnoity. On this day it is the custom in some past of the continent of Europe to vieit the sepulchres, which are beautifully decerated and which are intended to represent Christ bying in the sequence—a custom, however, which is by no means generally observed in the Catholic church. On Good Friday, which was also sometimes demandated thought findly from the length of the ceremonies on this day, the custom of cropping to, or rather kneedy and the principal was a perfect of the silence and monies are directed to the end of celebrating the memory of the death and passion of Christ. Death of Droweine.—The Coroner yesterday held an inquest, at Pier No. 5, North river upon the body of an unknown man, found in the water at that place. A verdict of death by drowning was rendered by the jury. The deceased was about five feet eight inches in height, had black hair, and was drossed in cassimere pants, fancy vest, white flannel shirt, and boots.

A Ladden Fan.—A fair by the ladies of the congregation, for the benefit of St. Vincent de Paul's Church, will be held at Metropolitan Hall next Monday and the days following. It will be succeeded by a concert of anateurs, to be held at the same place, under the direction of Mons. Millet, on the evening of Friday the 16th inst.

Rowers Thearne—This evening the performances will commence with the beautiful play the "Lady of Lyons," Mr. Eddy appearing as Claude Meinotte, and Mrs. Potter as Pauline. Mr. Eddy is now playing at the Howery for a very long period, and almost overy night sustaining the leading character, and he is greeted with the warmost marks of approbation. He will also appear as William Tell, and will be assisted by everal of the leading artists of the theatre. No doubt there will be a crowded houre.

BEGADWAY THEATRE.—The great success of Mr Porrect's present engagement, having played every night in succession. for fifty-one nights, is perhaps without a parallel in the history of the drama. The Br adway is always crowded, and throughout each scene he is rewarded with the most enthusiastic cheers. To-night he appears as Damon, in the celebrated piece called "Damon and Pythias," and he will be assisted in the other leading characters, by Mr. Conway and Madame Ponisi. The concluding piece will be "My Young Wife and Old Umbrella."

Nisto's Garries.—No performance.

Ninto's Ganden.-No perfermance.

Nesto's Garder.—No perfermance.

Burton's Theatre.—The excellent comedy of the "Twelfth Night" has been withdrawn for the present; but we presume it will be called for again, by hundreds who have not yet seen it, but who have heard from those who visited Burton's, that it is unquestionably the best piece produced there for a long time. The entertainments for this evening consist of "A Nabob for an Hour" "Rather Excited," and the 'First Night." The entire of Burton's unrivelled company will appear in these pieces.

National Theatre.—This establishment was crowded in every department had evening, the receipts being for the complimentary benefit of Mr. A. H. Purdy. During the evening he was presented with a valuable piece of Plate, from the society called the American Order of Friendship. Mr. C. W. Taylor in behalf of Mr. Purdy, returned thanks in a brief but pithy address. and was enthusiastically cheered. To-night the entertainments commence with the "Maniac Lover" followed by the 'Dumb Girl of Genoa." "Cheap Excursion," and "Crossing the Line."

American Museum.—The government of this establishment by Mr. J. Greenwood, seems to be crowned with success. The utmost order and regularity is preserved and the greatest possible attention paid to the comfort and happiness of the visiters. The plece relected for this afternoon and evening, is the grand spectacle of "Cherry and Fair Star."

Roway Chous.—The excellent equestrian entertainments which are given at this pisce of amm-ement. draw large audiences, who, if we may judge from expression, seem delighted, and mark their pleasure by enthusiastic plaudits. The programme for this evening contains a variety of the best sports of the ring.

According to Madame Ossoli's account of herself, she picked up a husband, at random, in Rome, without ceremony or introduction, and lived with him on her own terms and conditions. Indeed, is does not appear that she was ever married to him. She found him in a grove, near St. Peters, in Rome, and adopted him. She says that it was to endanger his welfare to marry her, he being a Catholic and she a Protestant. If she married him at all in conformity with any law of civilized life, or in accordance with the rules of any church with the rules of any chur ance with the rules of any church, she has not, so far as we have read, afforded any proof of the fact. We do not believe that the public morals or the literature of the country will be advanced by the memoirs of Madame Ossoli.

The United States Mint.

The Director of the United States, Mint, at Philadelphia, has addressed the fellowing letter to the Tressury Department, relative to complaints which have occasionally been put forward from Europe, of a want of uniformity in the value and fineness of the gold coinage of the United States:—

MINT OF THE UNITED STATES, PHILADELPHIA, April 2, 1852.

SIE—In the appendix to a report relative to coinage, lately made to the Senate, by the Hon. Mr. in unter. Chairman of the Committee of Finance, I find two letters from the Hon. Abbott Lawrence, our Minister to England—one dated December 13, 1851, the other dated February 19, 1852—in which assertions are made tending to discredit the accuracy of the assay of the gold coins issued from this Mint and its branches.

The statements made are so injurious to this department of the government, and indirectly to the

The statements made are so injurious to this department of the government, and indirectly to the government itself—and are, moreover, so entirely at variance with the facts as officially ascertained by me, and heretofore communicated to the Department—that it becomes a matter of great regret that they should have found publicity, and apparent countenance, in a document of such authority and importance. I feel it to be my duty to seize the first opportunity to make a concise statement of facts bearing on the subject, from which you will perceive that the highest credit is given to our assays in London and Paris.
